

Historical Sites in Satakunta project is looking for partners

Partners

Finland: LAG Karhuseutu, Satakunta Museum

Background

Satakunta Museum is a regional Museum situated in Pori, South West Finland. The Museum is the authority responsible for protection of cultural heritage and environment in the Satakunta region. The Museum works in close co-operation with local museums and historical societies in the area.

There are number of historical and archaeological sites in Satakunta that are poorly known and utilized. Yet these sites have a lot of potential for education, recreation and tourism. Growing awareness about the significance of historical sites will strengthen and safeguard their protection and at the same time benefit the local communities.

Objectives

- Develop less known heritage sites into small scale attractions
- Activate local societies and volunteer workers in heritage protection work
- Create new opportunities for local communities through tourism
- Raise public awareness about the significance of historical sites
- Bring “Adopt a monument” program in use in Satakunta region

Joint Actions

- To participate in the partners’ different events and excursions
- To exchange the good practices and experiences
- To learn from each other

Local Actions in Finland

- Mapping and documenting chosen historical sites
- Signposting and managing sites
- Organizing excursions, lectures and other activities and events
- Producing marketing material and promoting sites through brochures, web-pages and social media platforms
